Your application for employment authorization and advance parole has been approved. The form I-766, Employment Authorization Document with I-512 endorsement, will be sent to you separately. The Form I-766 with I-512 endorsement is issued to you, as a matter of USCIS discretion, on the basis of your pending application for adjustment of status, Form I-485.

Please read this notice carefully, as it provides important information concerning use of the Form I-766 with I-512 endorsement.

The Form I-766 with I-512 endorsement is valid until the date specified on the form. If the Form I-766 expires before there is a final decision on your Form I-485, you may file for a new Form I-766.

If any information on the card is incorrect, please write the office listed below. Include your Form I-766, a photocopy of this notice, and evidence to support the necessary correction.

EVIDENCE OF EMPLOYMENT AUTHORIZATION: At any time before the expiration date shown on the Form I-766, you may present the Form I-766 to any employer as evidence that you are authorized to accept employment. 8 CFR 274a.2(b)(1)(v)(A)(4).

EVIDENCE OF ADVANCE PAROLE: The Form I-766 with I-512 endorsement is also evidence that, while your Form I-485 remains pending, you may travel abroad without abandoning your Form I-485. 8 CFR 245.2(a) (4) (ii) (B).

Presentation of the Form I-766 with I-512 endorsement will authorize a transportation line to accept you on board for travel to the United States without liability under section 273 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (Act), provided that you arrive in the United States on or before the expiration date shown on the Form I-766.

The Form I-766 with I-512 endorsement is valid for multiple applications for parole into the United States until the Form I-766 expires. Each parole period shall not exceed one year from the date of the parole at the port of entry.

NOTICE- READ BEFORE YOU TRAVEL ABROAD

Parole into the United States is not guaranteed. In all cases, you are still subject to immigration inspection at a port of entry to determine whether you are eligible to come into the United States via the terms of this advance parole. The fact that USCIS approved your application for advance parole does not prevent the Department of Homeland Security, in the exercise of discretion, from refusing to parole you into the United States, if the Department determines that parole no longer serves the public interest of the United States.

Parole into the United States is not an "admission." If your Form I-485 is denied, you may be subject to removal proceedings as an inadmissible alien under sections 212(a) and 235(b)(1) or 240 of the Act, rather than as a deportable alien under sections 237(a) and 240 of the Act.

Unlawful Presence. Under the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996, aliens who depart the United States after being unlawfully present in the United States for certain periods may be barred from admission, even if they obtained advance parole. If after April 1997, you were unlawfully present in the United States for more than 180 days, you may be found inadmissible under section 212(a)(9)(B)(i) of the Act when you return to the United States.
